POLICY STATEMENT

- I. Based upon our criteria and assessment of the peer-reviewed literature, chiropractic care is considered medically appropriate for the following conditions:
  - A. Detection or correction by manual or mechanical means of structural imbalance, distortion or subluxation in the human body for the purpose of removing nerve interference, and the effects thereof, where such interference is the result of or related to distortion, misalignment or subluxation of or in the vertebral column.
  - B. Detection or correction by manual or mechanical means of mechanical/myofascial extremity pain (e.g., bursitis, myofascial trigger points, sprains, strains).
- II. Based upon our criteria and assessment of the peer-reviewed literature, chiropractic care is considered medically appropriate when there is an expectation of or actual improvement in the patient's condition.

Maintenance care begins when the therapeutic goals of a treatment plan have been achieved or when no additional functional progress is apparent or expected to occur. Maintenance care is considered not medically necessary.

Refer to Corporate Medical Policy #7.01.76 Spinal Manipulation under Anesthesia.

Refer to Corporate Medical Policy #8.01.12 Physical Therapy which includes dry needling.

POLICY GUIDELINES

- I. Coverage of chiropractic care is limited to medically necessary services provided by a licensed Doctor of Chiropractic, within the scope of his or her license, in connection with the detection or correction of spinal misalignment or mechanical/myofascial extremity pain.
- II. Contraindications include, but are not limited to, recent compression fracture, severe osteoporosis, inflammatory arthritis, infections, cauda equina, progressive neurological deficit, and visceral disease.
- III. All chiropractic care is subject to retrospective utilization review for determining medical necessity. Coverage for services determined to be not medically necessary will be denied.

DESCRIPTION

Chiropractic is a health care profession that focuses on disorders of the musculoskeletal system (primarily the spine) and the nervous system, and the effects of these disorders on general health. Chiropractic services are used most often to treat neuromusculoskeletal complaints, including, but not limited to, back pain, neck pain, pain in the joints of the arms or legs, and headaches. Doctors of Chiropractic (DCs), often referred to as chiropractors, practice a hands-on, drug-free approach to health care that includes patient examination, diagnosis, and treatment. Chiropractors have broad diagnostic skills and are trained to recommend therapeutic and rehabilitative exercises, as well as to provide nutritional, dietary, and lifestyle counseling.

One of the most common and well-known therapeutic procedures performed by DCs is spinal manipulation (sometimes referred to as a "chiropractic adjustment"). The purpose of spinal manipulation is to restore joint mobility by manually applying a controlled force into joints that have become hypomobile – or restricted in their movement – as a result of a tissue injury or restriction. Manipulation, or adjustment, of the affected joint and tissues, restores mobility, potentially alleviating pain and muscle tightness, restoring function, and enhancing the ability of tissues to heal.

New York State law requires that contracts providing physician services, medical, major medical, or similar comprehensive-type coverage, shall include coverage for chiropractic care. Chiropractic care in New York State is defined as detecting and correcting structural imbalance, distortion, or subluxations in the human body through manual or mechanic means, for the purpose of removing nerve interference effects related to distortion, misalignment, or subluxation of or in the vertebral column.
